

APPEC 2007

The Asia's premier event for the oil and gas industry was successfully held in Singapore from 11th to 13th September this year. APPEC 2007 was the 23rd conference organized since its inception and Vopak was once again the honoured host of its Opening Cocktail Reception.

The popularity and effectiveness of our networking events was clearly reflected by its ever-increasing turnout over the years. Close to 800 delegates and industry leaders took the opportunity this year to renew their ties with existing clients, meet new business partners and to exchange ideas.

Besides playing host to external delegates, the Singapore petroleum team also took the chance to catch up with its global and regional colleagues. Several important discussions came into fruition, which deliberated on issues spanning across Global Oil, Global Key Accounts, Regional Commercial, as well as, the Greater Singapore Region.

The clockwork progressed and the success of the cocktail event and the respective meetings must be attributed to the efforts and sacrifices put forth by the petroleum team and also all colleagues that had graciously contributed, one way or another.

We will be looking forward to APPEC 2008!
